So, how to cite a book. It depends on if you are talking about in the paper or in the Works Cited Page. You need to do both....always.

PARENTHETICAL CITATIONS/IN-TEXT CITATIONS

(Citations in your paper that must be included before or after every paraphrased or direct quote or fact from somewhere other than your head.)

In-Text Citations Option 1: Cite source at end. Include author and page number and punctuate as I have done. Include quotation marks around the quote if it is direct. Parenthesis around the author(s). The name of the author and the page number from book in the parenthesis. Period goes AFTER the parenthesis.

- "Quote from book" (Seuss 9).

In-Text Citation Option 2: Introduce source at the beginning of the sentence. Introduce author and book at the beginning in a way that sounds nice.

- In the book The Lorax by Dr. Seuss, there are "quote from book".

WORKS CITED

Works Cite Page: I suggest you familiarize yourself with EasyBib. It is a Works Cited Page citation maker and it will make citing your sources at the end of your paper super easy! It will guide you on which information to include in the generator and then it will create your citation for you. All you will need to do is copy and paste the citation onto your Works Cited Page - just be sure you are putting all your citations in alphabetical order.
